1. Introduction

Over 90% of the public conservatories in the United States were built by now-closed Lord & Burnham. In 1988, Rough Brothers acquired their drawings, details and equipment. Our dedication to historical accuracy and glass house preservation is unsurpassed. With our wealth of technical information and expertise, we are the best prepared resource to construct your new conservatory or restore your existing conservatory.

By working closely with you, we can help you select, construct and maintain the optimal structures and systems to meet your needs.

2. Why Rough Brothers?

At Rough Brothers we have been building and maintaining large, high-quality glazed structures since 1932. We have the experience, resources and technical expertise to solve a variety of conservatory and arboretum design issues. Rough Brothers can restore your structure to its original grandeur or build a new conservatory from the ground up. As part of our design services, we will evaluate your needs, provide you with a detailed analysis of the necessary restorative work or new construction, and help you plan to meet budget and timeline requirements.
